

TIDCOMBE CONCERTS

After Sam Grassie's absolutely extraordinary concert in September, we are thrilled to welcome back to St Michael's, Ashley Ramsden for the fourth event in this year's Tidcombe Concert Series.

Saturday 30th November 6pm : Ashley Ramsden - A Christmas Carol

Some of you may have been lucky enough to have joined us back in 2018 for Ashley Ramsden's sell-out performance of TS Eliot's Four Quartets. We are thrilled that Ashley has agreed to return to Tidcombe to perform his world-famous one-man dramatization of A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens.

Ashley Ramsden is the founding director of the School of Storytelling at Emerson College and regularly tours the world with his unique brand of engaging, moving and dramatic storytelling.

He has been performing A Christmas Carol for many years and it has become hugely popular, now an annual sell-out fixture at The Hague's National Theatre.

The combination of Dickens's timeless classic, Ashley's dramatic storytelling, and the candlelit atmosphere of St Michael's will make for an unforgettable evening, and a wonderful (if spooky) start to the Advent Season.

"Vivid and highly engaging"~ The Independent

As always, the concert will be followed by drinks at Tidcombe Manor or Flint Cottage Barn.
